Bunny skittles game for kids

Instructions No. 2185

Difficulty: Beginner

Working time: 2 Hours

Three kinds of fun in one idea: painting the bunnies is great crafting fun, the joy of playing the game you created yourself and finally skittles fun for the little ones that fits into any home!

The game consists of 6 rabbits. The individual numbers indicate how many points are scored when bowling over.

The higher the number of points to be scored when bowling over the bunny, the more surface can be painted in color.

To make painting as easy as possible, strips of masking tape are taped to the bunny. Thus, when painting color gets only on the designated areas.

The wooden numbers are also painted in color.

Once the paint has dried and the adhesive tapes have been removed, simply stick the wooden numbers on the cones, with a large wooden ball the game can begin.

Extra tip: The contours did not turn out perfectly because some paint may have gotten under the tape? As long as the paint is freshly applied, it can be carefully removed with a scalpel.

Finally, you should seal the bunnies with clear lacquer spray so that the paint adheres a little more "shockproof".
