Preparing the casting compound

Start your craft project by mixing Keraflott casting compound with water to form a creamy, lump-free mixture. Make sure you stir thoroughly until there are no more lumps. A uniform mixture is crucial to obtain beautiful, smooth castings later on.

Filling the silicone molds

Now it gets exciting! Carefully pour the finished mixture into your silicone molds. A little tip: tap gently against the mold to remove any trapped air bubbles and distribute the casting compound evenly. This will ensure that the surface of your castings is nice and smooth.

Drying and hardening

Once the castings have hardened, you can carefully remove them from the molds. This is a crucial step: leave them to dry completely in the air. This will give the castings optimum strength. If you notice any rough edges, don't worry - they can easily be smoothed out with a little sandpaper .

Decorate to your heart's content

Here comes the creative part! You can paint your castings however you like. Acrylic paints are ideal for this. For a special effect, you can also stick vellum paper behind the castings to create a beautiful translucency. Be creative and design the castings to suit your taste!
